NEW QUICK WAY TO PREPARE Fried Chicken

Crisp golden crust outside, so tender and juicy inside

Bring on a platter of this Crisp-coated Fried Chicken and see the welcome it gets. And when your family taste it, they'll be still more delighted. For chicken fried this way is meltingly tender and wonderfully juicy, with a crisp, golden, delicate-tasting crust.

And there's no need for smoke or unpleasant odor when you deep fry. New, pure ALL-vegetable Spry stays sweet and fresh through repeated fryings; and can be used over and over—simply strain out food particles. Why not have this fried chicken tonight? It's a real treat and so much easier and quicker—so much juicier, too, than chicken fried by the usual recipe.

Crisp-coated Fried Chicken

3-pound frying chicken, 1 cup flour cut in serving pieces 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup buttermilk 1/2 teaspoon pepper Dip pieces of chicken in buttermilk and drain thoroughly. Combine flour, salt and pepper in paper bag. Place one piece of chicken at a time in bag and shake well to coat evenly with flour. Fry chicken in deep hot Spry (new ALL-vegetable shortening) at 375°F. until brown and crisp on both sides (about 7 minutes). Serves 4.

Motorists Should Pay Only Port of Road Costs—U. S.

Highway users in many of the states are being forced to pay more than their fair share of the costs of roads and streets, a report of the Federal Coordinator of Transportation reveals. The report, based upon a six year study of the problem by government experts, finds that motorists are being overcharged to the extent of millions of dollars.

"The report of the federal agency, setting forth comparative costs of the roads and streets which highway users should bear, should be of immense value to West Virginia, whose highway planing survey is now nearing completion," J. E. Jones of Parkersburg, President of the W. Va. Petroleum Association, said today in commenting upon the report, known as "Public Aids to transportation."

"There should not be only wise planning for highway programs, but also sound allocation of costs. This report of the federal agency establishes sound principles for assessment of road costs, and those principles should be used by West Virginia in interpreting the data obtained under its highway planning survey.

"If the motorists in this state are found to be taxed beyond their fair share of the highway costs, then their tax burden should be reduced."
